It's Rodeo Time!

By Steve Lightle

2014 saw Sedro Woolley celebrate their 80th year of rodeo (held in conjunction with the 4th of July Logger Rodeo) and Sharon Ely and I were there to photograph the event. The rodeo arena is enclosed with a pipe fence that provides wide openings through which you can photograph the event without wire mesh being in the way. It's also handy and stiff enough to lean against or rest your lens on for extra stability. If you're looking for a challenging photo subject rodeo may just be it. The action is of short duration; between 2 and 10 seconds and very very fast! Here are images from the event.

Pilchuck club members Gina Barragan, Renata Kleinert, Sonya Lange, Steve Lightle and Tracy Carson ventured forth to Seattle's Kerry Park the evening of July 11th to photograph the nearly full moon as it rose over the Seattle Skyline. Arriving well before moonrise and sunset we had the opportunity to photograph the skyline through the changing evening light which included a fairly impressive sunset. Early images included the Seattle Skyline with the Space Needle in the foreground and Mt. Rainier in the background. Later images included the moon above the skyline with the final images being the illuminated skyline and space needle with or without the moon above them.

The eastern sky was hazy when we arrived which obscured the moon as it first rose so we couldn't see it until it was up a bit and the moon rose farther east than was anticipated so by the time it was above the skyline it was a bit high in the sky – not exactly what we were looking for but quite impressive anyway. Later in the evening we were treated to some nice clouds above the city that turned nicely red / purple as the evening progressed.

Here are some of the images shared by the participants in the photo field trip.

KING OF WAKE - Pilchuck Camera Club Outing

Images by Renata Kleinert

Great day in Monroe at Lake Tye for the King of Wake Tour 2014. We had sun, loud music and free cold drinks courtesy of Rockstar Energy drinks. Renata liked those a lot as you can see from the image below of her Rockstar filled Shoes (image by Steve).

Steve, Sharon, Renata, and Sonya were ready for the panning action images and here are a few we thought you might enjoy.
